

New Fiction

June 2019

I'll Never Tell

by Catherine McKenzie

Now, the MacAllister children are all grown up. After their parents die suddenly, they return to Camp to read the will and decide what to do with the prime real estate it's sitting on. But then the will is read and they learn that it's much more complicated than a simple vote. Until they unravel the mystery of what happened to Amanda, they can't move forward.

Tell me everything : a novel

by Cambria Brockman

A college senior on the cusp of graduation uses her extraordinary insights to uncover her friends' closest-held secrets before a devastating chain of events culminates in a murder that tests the limits of her capabilities.

Searching for Sylvie Lee

by Jean Kwok

The best-selling author of Girl in Translation draws on a personal family tragedy in the story of three women from a Chinese immigrant family who navigate complicated secrets when an elder daughter goes missing.

Half finished : a novel

by Lauraine Snelling

Forming a group so that they can motivate each other to finish the projects they start, a craft circle discovers that their relationships with loved ones and with God are also unfinished.

Bunny

by Mona Awad

Invited to join a popular clique at her university, a misfit artist with a dark imagination is drawn into ritualistic activities that transform her perspectives on reality.

The woman in the dark

by Vanessa Savage

A dangerous accident prompts a family's relocation to a gothic seaside house, the site of an infamous murder 15 years earlier, where a wife and mother struggling with depression investigates rumors about the killer's parole.

Jack 1939

by Francine Mathews

Tapped by President Franklin Roosevelt to travel to Europe and learn what the Nazis are actually planning, 22-year-old John F. Kennedy, a sickly and unpromising second son of Roosevelt's Ambassador to Britain, becomes embroiled in the president's high-stakes effort to stop the flow of German money.

The altruists : a novel

by Andrew Ridker

On the brink of losing the family home, a Midwestern college professor and widower reaches out to his estranged children under the guise of a reconciliation, only to unleash a maelstrom of age-old resentments.

The last house guest

by Megan Miranda

When her longtime best friend is found murdered, a woman combs through her idyllic Maine tourist community to uncover local secrets and clear her name of suspicion.

The Tehran Initiative

by Joel C. Rosenberg

With the stakes high and few viable options left, the president of the United States orders CIA operative David Shirazi and his team to track down and sabotage Iran's nuclear warheads before Iran or Israel can launch a devastating first strike.

Fleming Branch
5020 Serena Dr
Beamsville, ON | 905.563.7014

Moses F. Rittenhouse Branch
4080 John Charles Blvd
Vineland, ON | 905.562.5711

www.lincoln.library.on.ca