

New Juvenile Fiction

December 2017

The doll's eye

by Marina Cohen

Discovering a glass eye in the empty attic of a new home where she lives with her dull stepfather and annoying stepbrother, Hadley meets an eccentric baker before finding a doll house replica of her own home and making a wish that changes everything she knows to be true.

The serpent's shadow : the graphic novel

by Orpheus Collar

When Apophis, the chaos snake, threatens to plunge the world into eternal darkness, siblings Carter and Sade Kane plan to use an ancient spell to destroy the snake, but first must rely on the murderous ghost of a powerful magician

The handbook

by Jim Benton

Jack likes to trash-pick, and when his elderly neighbors move out and leave a promising pile of refuse outside, he finds a box that holds the Secret Parent's Handbook that lets him and his friends make the rules at home for a change

Mr. Lemoncello's great library race

by Chris Grabenstein

Aspiring to join other lucky finalists who are testing Mr. Lemoncello's fabulous new game, Kyle researches interesting facts about notable Americans only to stumble on a few truths about his hero.

The silver mask

by Holly Black

Continues the magical adventures of Call and his friends in the Magisterium. Co-written by the Newbery Honor-winning author of Doll Bones.

A big day for baseball

by Mary Pope Osborne

Transported through time to 1947 to participate in a history-making baseball game, Jack and Annie don magical baseball caps to bolster their skills while learning what is so special about the game and its star, Jackie Robinson.

Rapunzel and the lost lagoon

by Leila Howland

Bonding over their shared distaste for the roles they are expected to play, Rapunzel and her would-be soldier lady-in-waiting, Cassandra, stumble on a secret lagoon said to hold the key to the kingdom's greatest power.

Eugenia Lincoln and the unexpected package

by Kate DiCamillo

A cynical older sister who believes she is too practical for frivolity receives the unexpected gift of an accordion that she attempts to sell, destroy and give away before an unexpected solution comes to light.

The Losers Club

by Andrew Clements

Made an example of by a strict principal who forbids reading in classes that require attentive participation, Alec starts a club of one, intending to devote whatever time he can to his favorite books.

The Caldera

by John Flanagan

Returning home for the annual warrior competition, Hal and the Herons are reunited with someone from their past and embark on a high-risk mission to rescue the Empress's son from pirate kidnappers.

Fleming Branch
5020 Serena Dr
Beamsville, ON | 905.563.7014

Moses F. Rittenhouse Branch
4080 John Charles Blvd
Vineland, ON | 905.562.5711

www.lincoln.library.on.ca