

New Juvenile Fiction

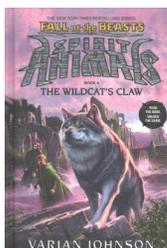

January 2018

Two catch a thief

by Tom Watson

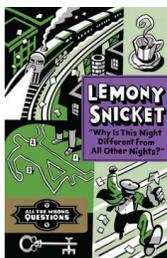

While enjoying a lazy day at his apartment, Stick Cat and his friend Edith hear strange and threatening noises.

The wildcat's claw

by Varian Johnson

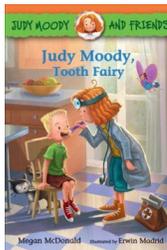

The four heroes of Erdas become fugitives on the run in a latest entry of the best-selling series that includes The Burning Tide.

"Why is this night different from all other nights?"

by Lemony Snicket

The author of A Series of Unfortunate Events presents a conclusion to the best-selling series that finds a train's nightly journey to the city redirected to a mysterious alternate location.

Judy Moody, Tooth Fairy

by Megan McDonald

Overhearing an older student declare that there is no tooth fairy, Judy resolves to determine the truth by coaxing out her semi-reluctant little brother's loose tooth using a variety of creative methods.

Dog Man and Cat Kid

by Dav Pilkey

When a new sitter arrives and a movie star goes missing, Dog Man and Cat Kid investigate, but Petey, the world's most evil cat, complicates their plans.

Children of refuge

by Margaret Peterson Haddix

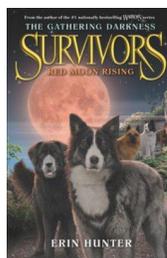

Smuggled to Refuge City to stay with hostile family members in a strict, cold boarding school, Edwy searches for other former Fredtown children and discovers that Rosi and their friends from Cursed Town may be in danger.

The magic misfits

by Neil Patrick Harris

A middle-grade debut by the beloved actor follows the experiences of a young New England street magician who teams up with other talented street kids to protect their community from a greedy crime boss.

Red moon rising

by Erin Hunter

In the gripping fourth book of the second Survivors series, the Wild Pack is in high spirits after rescuing Alpha and Beta's pups, but Storm believes that danger still walks among them—and that it won't be long before the traitor dog strikes again.

The trials of Morrigan Crow

by Jessica Townsend

Born on the unluckiest day of the year and blamed for all misfortunes that occur in her community, a girl doomed to die at midnight on her 11th birthday is unexpectedly whisked away by a stranger on horseback, Zombies attack!

by Mark Cheverton

A young boy's life is turned upside down when his village is destroyed by an evil zombie warlord, an act that prompts the boy and his friends to embark on a quest to save captured prisoners and bring the zombie leader to justice.

Fleming Branch
5020 Serena Dr
Beamsville, ON | 905.563.7014

Moses F. Rittenhouse Branch
4080 John Charles Blvd
Vineland, ON | 905.562.5711

www.lincoln.library.on.ca