Aquaponics is a sustainable farming method that combines aquaculture (fish farming) and hydroponics (growing plants without soil).

In this informative presentation, the team from Lumago will demonstrate how this innovative method can provide a local source of organic food without the high water usage of conventional farming.

This FREE event will be held at the Fleming Branch. Please register by calling 905.563.7014 or visiting the library in Beamsville.
